

MEDIA ADVISORY City of Stamford

Tue. Oct. 29, 2019

Contact:

Arthur Augustyn

203.977.5115

AAugustyn@stamfordct.gov

Stamford Health & City of Stamford Host James Daugherty Mural Rededication

STAMFORD, Conn. — Mayor David Martin will join representatives from Stamford Health and the community to celebrate the rededication of the newly restored James Henry Daugherty mural “The World Outside.” This notable piece of art from the Works Progress Administration era previously hung at Stamford High School and was nearly lost to the city forever. Mayor Martin will celebrate its return to the city, as it is now on loan to Stamford Health and on display at Stamford Health’s Tully Health Center.

WHO: Mayor David Martin, representatives from Stamford Health, and members of the Stamford community

WHAT: Official rededication of the James Henry Daugherty mural “The World Outside”

WHERE: Stamford Health’s Tully Health Center, 32 Strawberry Hill Court, Stamford, CT. Main Atrium.

WHEN: Tuesday, November 5, 2019, 6:30 p.m.

NEWS/PHOTO OPPS:

Learn more about the history of this notable piece of art and its journey to restoration.

Hear Stamford Health’s perspective on the role of art in creating a healing environment for patients.

Learn more about the historical significance of WPA art from special guest Herman Eberhardt, Supervisory Museum Curator at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library and Museum.

###