SUMMARY OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE
AMENDING CHAPTER 209 OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES, CONCERNING SUSTAINABILITY AND THE REGULATION OF SINGLE-
USE FOOD WARE IN FOOD ESTABLISHMENTS

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF STAMFORD THAT: In recognition of the seriousness of climate change and its effects on society, and in recognition of Mayor Caroline Simmons' Executive Order EO_005_230417 Climate, directing the Administration and all applicable City Departments and Agencies to adopt initiatives that address climate change and sustainability, the Stamford Board of Representatives will hold a public hearing on a proposed ordinance to amend Chapter 209 of the Code of Ordinances concerning sustainability and the regulation of single-use food ware in food establishments. The proposed ordinance would prohibit the use of most single-use plastic food ware, black plastic items, and plastic-lined containers in both dine-in and take-out settings. Dine-in establishments would be required to use reusable food ware for on-premises consumption. Take-out orders would need to be packaged in biodegradable, PFAS-free, and certified compostable containers, with limited exceptions for containers used to hold hot liquids such as soup. Plastic accessories, including utensils and straws, may only be provided upon customer request. The ordinance would be enforced by the City's Health Department, with escalating fines for violations. Penalties collected would be deposited into a dedicated Sustainability Fund. If enacted, the ordinance would take effect nine months after passage, with certain provisions phased in over 36 months. Stamford Public Schools would have up to ten years to fully transition to reusable food ware for on-site dining, while other requirements would apply starting with the first full academic year that begins at least nine months after enactment.

The public is encouraged to attend the hearing and provide comment on the proposed ordinance.

Attest: Philip Berns, Chair, Legislative & Rules Committee
Megan Cottrell, Clerk, 31st Board of Representatives

Recreational Ideas for Adults

Fun is more than child's play. Indeed, there is much to be said in favor of adults having some fun. Health experts say recreation brings balance to people's lives and is imperative for health and well-being. The University of Utah Health says research indicates that people are cognitively stimulated, more creative, energized, and relaxed with regular recreation, especially when leisure time is enjoyed outdoors in nature.

Adults may not be as naturally inclined toward recreational activities as children, so they may need a little inspiration to find the right opportunities to have a little fun. The following are several ideas to get any adult on a path toward having fun.

- Volunteerism: Volunteering one's time can be as physically active or as sedate as one requires. Volunteer work can run the gamut from beach sweeps to pick up coastal trash or calling Bingo numbers at a nearby senior center. Volunteer work be fun and provide a sense of purpose.
- Cooking: Adults can take cooking classes to expand their culinary skills and explore different cultures through cuisine. An added benefit of cooking class is the tasty end results that come from each lesson.
- Bowling: Bowling is a fun recreational activity that promotes social engagement and friendly competition. Individuals can join leagues and test their skills against other players.
- Camping: Whether you're in a tent, directly under the stars or in the comforts of an RV, camping can be the perfect recreational activity for people who want to enjoy the great outdoors. Many people come together on a campground to socialize and enjoy some fresh air.
- Dancing: Dancing can be a creative outlet for individuals of any age, and it also promotes physical fitness and wellness. There are many different dancing styles, so it's possible to find a discipline that fits with a little trial and error. Dancing classes taken as a couple can be a wonderful opportunity to bond with a partner.
- Gardening: Gardening is accessible to anyone, regardless of space. With a little dirt and some gumption, anyone can experience the joy of nurturing plants. Those who grow herbs or produce can supplement their pantries with extra ingredients.
- Trivia nights: People who want to strengthen their mental skills can enjoy trivia nights hosted by local establishments. Trivia nights are a fun way to pair food, socialization and some healthy competition.

Adults have many different options when it comes to fun recreational activities to keep them engaged.
