AFFORDABLE HOUSING TRUST FUND BOARD

The Stamford Affordable Housing Trust Fund (SAHTF) was created by Board of Representatives by Ordinance in November 2020. Its purpose is the preservation of existing and the creation of new affordable rental and home ownership housing in the Stamford, pursuant to the City's Master and Affordable Housing plans.

Where does the Money in the Trust Fund come from? Is it tax dollars?

The money in the Trust Fund is generally NOT taxpayer money. The most important sources are the Commercial Linkage Fees, which is a percentage of the building permit fees for commercial development, and Fee-in-Lieu payments as part of the City's Below Market Rate (BMR) program. The City's BMR program, as established in Section 7.4. of the Stamford Zoning Regulations requires that all new residential development with ten or more units must set aside 10% of the new units as permanently affordable housing units. Under certain circumstances and by Special Permit approval only, developers can make a Fee-in-Lieu payment instead of providing the affordable units on Site.

What does "Affordable" mean?

Housing is considered "affordable" when a household does not spend more than 30% of their income for housing, such as rent, mortgage payments, taxes, or basic utilities. Stamford's BMR program targets households who make less than 80% of the Area Median Income. The Area Median Income is determined annually by the US Department of Housing and Urban Development and adjusted for Household Size.

What are the Pros and Cons of Fee-In-Lieu Payments?

The goal of the BMR program is to create integrated, socio-economically and otherwise diverse neighborhoods. Therefore, there is a strong preference for BMR units to be provided on-site. However, since BMR units get generated only in areas that see a lot of development and they are generally the same unit type as built in a development, BMRs tend to be concentrated in some neighborhoods and tend to be smaller in size. Fee-in-Lieu payments can be used to build affordable housing in other parts of town, produce dwelling units that the market doesn't provide or to target certain affordability levels that seem to be a high need for housing.

What data does the Board of Trustees use to make its decisions?

The Affordable Housing Trust Fund Ordinance requires the preparation of a housing study at least every 5 years to guide the decision-making process of the Board of Trustees.

Board of Assessment Appeals

The Board of Assessment Appeals hearings for motor vehicles on the 2023 Grand List will be conducted in September 2024. Please check back in August 2024 for more information.

The Board of Assessment Appeals is an official municipal agency. It is designed to serve as an appeal body for taxpayers who believe that town or city assessors erred in the valuation of their properties or erroneously denied them exemptions. The Board is composed of persons who have been appointed by the Mayor of Stamford. The Board enables taxpayers to be heard by their peers at no expense. No fees are charged for the appeal process. Furthermore, taxpayers do not have to be represented by counsel.

Visit the City of Stamford website for minutes, agendas, and more information.

CAMERA REVIEW COMMITTEE

The Public Safety Camera Review Committee ("CRC") is charged with upholding and enforcing Chapter 7 of the City of Stamford Code of Ordinances. The Committee consists of the Mayor or his or her designee, the Director of Public Health & Safety or his or her designee, the President of the Board of Representatives or his or her designee, and two members of the public. The two members of the public shall be appointed by the Mayor and approved by the Board of Representatives.

The Code of Ordinances states that a CCTV Camera or Feed location shall be approved by the CRC by following and applying the Policies and Procedures Manual as established and approved by the Board of Representatives. A link to the Manual can be found using the link on the left.

The CRC meets occasionally as the requests for approvals, and reviews of policies, warrant.

Applications for approved camera sites can be made by the members of the public, elected City representatives, and City of Stamford employees.

Visit the City of Stamford website for minutes, agendas, and more information.

HISTORIC PRESERVATION ADVISORY COMMISSION

The Historic Preservation Advisory Commission (HPAC) was established in 2013 after an amendment of the City's Charter.

The duties of HPAC are to:

- Advise officials, boards, commissions and departments of the City of Stamford regarding the protection of local cultural resources;
 - Recommend properties and sites for the designation of historic districts or landmarks;
 - Liaise on behalf of City of Stamford with individuals and organizations concerned with historic preservation;
 - Advise on the design of structures, improvements and cultural resources in the city's historic districts, as well as those adjacent to historical properties.
 - Catalogue the cultural resources in Stamford;
 - Educate Stamford residents about historic preservation issues and concerns.
- The commission shall consist of 5 Regular Members and 3 Alternate Members.

PLANNING BOARD

Who are we?

The Planning Board prepares the City's Master Plan and drafts the Capital Budget. It consists of five voting members and up to three alternates, all of whom are appointed by the Mayor. Members serve for four years in staggered terms. All members of the City's Planning Board are volunteers, and meet on average twice a month.

What do we do?

The Planning Board is responsible for planning and coordinating the development of the City. The Board has two main tools to plan for the City's future. The Master Plan is a vision, policy and implementation plan that guides the City forward. Based on the analysis of existing conditions and anticipated needs, it is a comprehensive plan that addresses economic development, transportation and mobility sustainability and other issues.

The second tool the Planning Board has available is the Capital Budget . The Capital Budget lays out the City's investments in streets, schools, parks and other infrastructure and facilities. The Planning Board drafts the Capital Budget which is then reviewed and approved by the Mayor, the Board of Finance and the Board of Representatives. Other responsibilities include maintaining the City's official map, review of subdivision applications, etc.

Who do we work with?

The Land Use Bureau provides technical support to the Planning Board. Developers and homeowners come to the Board for subdivision approvals. For the Master Plan, the Board reaches out to the public for their input. As part of the Capital Budget, the Board works with virtually all City agencies and many of the other Boards.

The board shall consist of 5 Regular Members and 3 Alternate Members.

Visit the City of Stamford website for minutes, agendas, and more information.

URBAN REDEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

The Urban Redevelopment Commission is an agency created by the City of Stamford in 1954 that handles municipal development projects.

Members are appointed by the Mayor with the approval of the Board of Representatives for a five-year term. The powers and authorities of the Commission are conferred by the State and are described in the General Statutes.

The URC is authorized to prepare and/or approve plans for urban redevelopment and urban renewal projects, as well as certain other projects. Those plans must be approved by several City Boards, and ultimately by the Board of Finance and the Board of Representatives in order to become effective. The URC is designated as the Development Agency for the City of Stamford.

Generally, the URC serves as primary City entity for eminent domain matters. It has functioned on behalf of Stamford in its development of the downtown Central Business District (CBD) also known as the Downtown Special Services District (DSSD) as well as in the acquisition of properties for the Mill River Park Collaborative. Additionally, the URC has been instrumental in the preparation and use of Tax Incremental Financing (TIFs), on a limited basis, for the City of Stamford.

The URC serve as the municipal conduit in developing the Park Square West area in Stamford. This zone has seen the construction, and occupancy of several residential and commercial improvements. Moreover, the URC was the lead City Agency in the process that has building taking place at the former Hole in the Ground at Greyrock and Tresser Boulevard.

In February 2017, the Mayor and City Board of Representatives voted to place the URC into the Office of Economic Development for the City of Stamford. The URC continues its functions with the supplementary mandate of working to further enhance economic as well as community development on behalf of Stamford residents.

Mission Statement

The Stamford Urban Redevelopment Commission provides the critical leadership for the continuing innovative revitalization of the City.

Working in collaboration with the community, the Commission focuses on rehabilitating blighted areas; balancing population density and socio-economic diversity; promoting convenient affordable housing; enhancing pedestrian presence; improving the availability of suitable parking; expanding the job and tax base; and ensuring the attractiveness of buildings, open areas and urban infrastructure.

The successful result of the Commission's activities will enhance the appeal of the City as a dynamic community in which to live work and shop.

ZONING BOARD

Who are we?

The Zoning Board plays a critical role in shaping the city. It regulates the height, bulk and uses of property based on Stamford's Zoning Regulations and the city's Zoning Map. The Zoning Board is appointed by the Mayor and comprises of five regular members and three alternate members. The Zoning Board members are volunteers and are listed below.

What do we do?

The Zoning Board reviews applications for changes to the Zoning Map, Zoning Text, Special Exceptions, Site and Architectural Plans and Coastal Site Plans. The board conducts public hearings and administrative review of applications based on rules defined in the City Charter. The meetings are held in the cafeteria, 4th floor of the Government Center.

Who do we work with?

The Zoning Board is advised by the Land Use Bureau planning staff on the various applications. Depending on the nature of the application, the board receives referral comments on the applications from various City departments, Commissions and agencies including the Zoning Enforcement Officer, Fire Marshall, Department of Health, Engineering Bureau, Transportation Bureau, Harbor Management Commission, Historic Preservation Advisory Committee, Office of Long Island Sound, Harbor Management Commission, Western Connecticut Council of Government, Board of Representatives and neighboring towns. The Zoning Board consults with the City's Corporation Counsel on applications.

When should you talk to us?

You should contact the Land Use Bureau staff if you are interested in submitting an application to the Zoning Board for approval of a Site and Architectural Plan, Special Exception, Coastal Site Plan review or administrative review of a prior approval. You are encouraged to schedule a pre-application meeting where the Land Use Bureau staff who can provide guidance regarding the application requirements and the application review process.

The public is encouraged to participate in the review of applications during the public hearings conducted by the Zoning Board. View the schedule of Zoning Board meetings.

Visit the City of Stamford website for minutes, agendas, and more information.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

The primary function of the Zoning Board of Appeals is to consider variances of the zoning regulations where there is an unusual hardship with the land.

The board shall consist of 5 Regular Members and 3 Alternate Members.

Uses of property permitted under the zoning regulations but subject to the approval of the Board are considered under the heading of special exception. The Board also rules on appeals from the decisions of the Zoning Enforcement Officer. Whenever a variance or special exception application concerns property in the Coastal Area Management Area, the Board conducts a preliminary coastal site plan review on the matter. The Board also considers motor vehicle certificates of approval for dealer and repairer licenses and retail gasoline station permits. Zoning Board of Appeals decisions may be appealed to the Superior Court.
